Exams

There will be midterm exams on Monday, April 19, and Friday, May 14 in class. The final exam will be Wednesday, June 9 from 8:30 to 10:20am. You may bring one letter-size handwritten sheet of notes (writing allowed on both sides). You may use a scientific calculator, but graphing calculators are not allowed. Bring your Student ID to all exams.

Homework

Homework is posted on my website and will be collected about once a week. No late assignments are accepted under any circumstances.

Sometimes I will designate a homework exercise as an essay problem. Essay problems will be turned in on a separate page from the rest of your homework, and will be graded for clarity as well as correctness.

Grading

Grading Breakdown
Homework	10% (drop 2 lowest)
Exam 1	25%
Exam 2	25%
Final Exam	40%

Miscellaneous

- Academic misconduct (such as cheating) is not tolerated. If you are caught cheating on an exam, you will receive no credit for the exam and will be referred to the dean for further discipline.
